In an essay of 500 words, please answer the following question:

People who think about sustainability are individuals who attempt to find ecological, economic, and/or social solutions to insure that Earth’s resources are well managed and are available in the future – both for themselves and for future generations.

In what places during your travel study program will you search to find where sustainability solutions have been attempted (or completed) in your study abroad nation, and why? How might you incorporate sustainability in your trip, and why? How might the comparison with another culture inform your views on sustainability issues and/or solutions?
